Kabhi Khushi Kabhie Gham watch online and the fluorine ion, thereby it is not obvious as to whether or not the bonding strength of the bismuth compound is satisfactory. However, the bismuth compound has the advantage that it is possible to form a p-type semiconductor by doping with bismuth in place of the conventional antimony compound, and has therefore been expected to be applied widely to an electrode material or a device material. However, according to the inventors' investigations, it was found that, according to conditions in the manufacturing method of the conventional bismuth compound, the sublimation step was continuously performed until after a metal vapor concentration reached almost 100% or a metal vapor concentration of a product whose pressure was reduced to almost a pressure of 1 Torr at the final sublimation step, as a result, there was the problem that a content of bismuth in the bismuth compound was reduced and the bismuth compound was extremely difficult to be contained in a stable state in a predetermined particle size. Further, according to the inventors' investigations, it was found that, according to conditions in the manufacturing method, the bismuth compound was crystallized at an extremely high temperature in the final sublimation step, the bismuth compound was aggregated in the form of a particle, and a reaction was affected by a particle diameter or the like, therefore, it was extremely difficult to use the bismuth compound in terms of mass-production, reproducibility and yield. Accordingly, it has been strongly demanded to develop the bismuth compound which is usable for mass-production, and has a high bonding strength and a high purity. In the investigations conducted by the inventors for solving the problems in the background art, it was found that a bismuth compound in which an amount of a compound having a metal ion such as hydrogen or
